Paris, Washington DC, 15.04.2021, 22:51 Time

USPA NEWS - The Future Investment Initiative Institute Series, founded and chaired by Richard Attias, hosted a one of a kind virtual forum untitled "The Neo-Renaissance: Mobilizing ESG for a Sustainable Future"; This is the 3rd event, to be organized by the Future Investment Initiative Institute Series. The event was chaired by H.E Yasur Al Rumayyan, Governor, PIF and Chairman of FII Institute, KSA who declared : The [Saudi Green Initiative & Middle East Initiative] seeks to reduce carbon emissions by 60% and plant 50 billion trees, complementing Saudi's G20 promises on a circular carbon economy and coral reef protection." Richard Attias, CEO of FII Institute stated : "ESG reliability and usefulness can be further improved by tailoring it to local realities - a one-size-fits-all approach will not work if we want to make serious progress toward global sustainable development."

THE FUTURE INVESTMENT INITIATIVE INSTITUTE IS A NEW GENERATION OF GLOBAL NO-FOR-PROFIT FOUNDATION-----

The Future Investment Initiative Institute is a new generation of global not-for-profit foundation that ensures the world's brightest ideas find their way to materialize, scale and create positive sustainable Impact on Humanity. As we attended this interactive and very well designed, digital event, in a original format, we are publishing some highlights of the event, especially when it comes to some inspirational thoughts that emerged from the lively discussion with the panels of high level speakers. The outcome is also to provoking initiatives towards some financial capitalization, and human resources over mobilizing ESG to drive a sustainable future, as we invest. The event finished on a special note as FII Institute CEO Richard Attias and Jean-Jacques Barberis, Member of the Executive Committee & Head of Institutional Clients Coverage & ESG of AMUNDI, signed a memorandum of understanding on behalf of the two organizations to collaborate on ESG research with a focus on emerging markets.
